Duce Charges Britain Started War; Promises To Break Greece's Back

Tells Nation Few Men Are Being Killed in Warfare; Says Only 372 Dead

Says Axis Solid Italian, German Ties Are Firm, He Says in Speech

Rome, Nov. 18 (AP)—Benito Mussolini broke the silence of his five months at war today to promise "we will break Greece's back" if it takes a year; to swear that Britain lied in reporting destruction of half of Italy's battleships, and to vow that the conflict will go on until England is annihilated.

Bitterly, Il Duce called Britain "the modern Carthage," likening it to that ancient power which, by means of naval might, gripped both shores of the Mediterranean.

He charged the Greeks with "absolute complicity" in a long-standing British plot to make Italy impotent.

He acknowledged that no lightning war could be waged in the mud and mountains of Greece, but he declared that Italy had the men and means to break that nation unassisted.

"We have a million men under arms," he declared on the fifth anniversary of economic sanctions against Italy which grew out of the Ethiopian campaign, "and we could call eight million more."

Il Duce, in his first speech since Italy's declaration of war June 10, denied British claims that half of Italy's battleships were put out of action for a long time in an air raid on the naval base at Taranto last week. He said only one warship was damaged so badly that she could not be repaired within a relatively short time.

Speaking at his Palazzo Venezia, he listed Italy's losses in the Greek campaign as 372 dead, 1,081 wounded, and 650 missing in the first ten days of the Greek war, and shouted:

"They will be avenged, for whatever happens, I will never turn back."

Plane Production Greater
Mussolini declared Italy was turning out four times more airplanes than before the war and said:

"In a short time, with mass production, our new types will be perhaps ahead and certainly equal to the most modern planes of other countries."

In the British raid on Taranto, Mussolini acknowledged that three Italian ships were hit, but said "none was sunk and only one of them—as the bulletin of our armed forces announced—was seriously damaged and its repair will require a long time."

"It is false, I say, that two other warships and two auxiliary vessels were sunk or hit or damaged even slightly in any way," Mussolini asserted. "It is a sign of bad conscience, this enlargement and multiplication by six of the success which he acknowledged."

Citing Italy's Axis Alliance, Mussolini declared that "from day to day our collaboration with Germany is really comradely and totalitarian. We are marching side by side." "Our identity of views, both for the present and for the future, is perfect."

"My meetings with the fuhrer are only a consecration of this complete fusion of our conceptions."

The three-power pact among Germany, Italy and Japan, developments in the Danubian basin, as well as "the future position of France," resulted from those meetings, Il Duce said.

'Greeks Hate Italy'
Turning to the war against Greece, Il Duce said the Greeks "hate Italy as no other people," although "the reason is a mystery."

Greek foreign policy in recent years was based on this hatred, he charged, describing it as a policy of "absolute complicity with Great Britain."

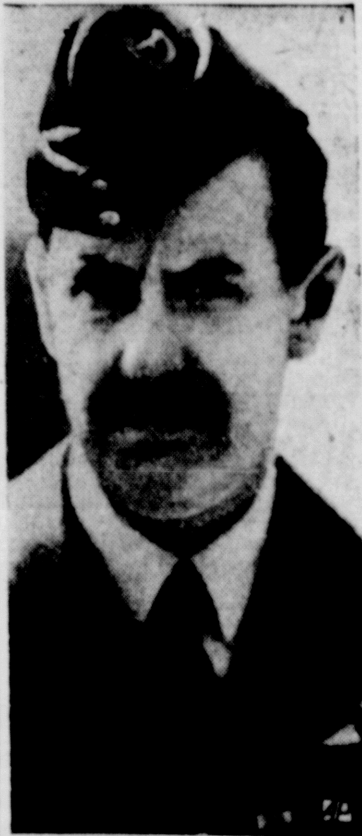

"It could not be otherwise," he shouted, "considering the king is English, the political class is English and the bourgeoisie, in both a figurative and real sense, is English."

Papers found by the German general staff in France, he declared, showed Greece had offered the allies all its aid and naval bases since last May.

"The rough mountains of Epirus and its muddy valleys do not lend themselves to lightning war," he explained. "I do not believe it worth the trouble to deny all the news given by Greek propaganda and its English loudspeaker."

That Julia Alpine division which was supposed to have suffered heavy losses in the Greek campaign, he said, was still in existence.

Coming to U.S.

An announcement by the British air ministry said that Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding (above), 58, who has been mainly responsible for the defense of Britain against German air attacks, will be sent to the United States at the special request of Lord Beaverbrook, minister of air craft production.

Duce's Speech Is Interesting From Two Standpoints

Vanderschmidt Analysis Is Based Upon Why He Made It and What He Didn't Say

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Mussolini's speech is interesting and important for two reasons: Why he made it at all; what he didn't say.

This was the first time Il Duce had chosen to break his sphinx-like silence since he threw in his lot with the Germans for better or worse last June 10 and joined in the assault against France and Britain. Why did he find it necessary to speak out now to tell his people that his high command has been telling the truth about the damage which British aerial torpedoes did to Italy's battleships at Taranto? Or to declare, "whatever happens, I will never turn back" in Greece?

The logical answer is that Italians have been cupping a defeatist ear to the British radio and then asking each other: "What are we getting out of this war but trouble? Where are our victories? Why did we get into it, anyway?"

U. S. Behind in Arms Outlay Nation Has Barely Started Initial Payments on Modern Defense Machines, Survey Reveals

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—A survey of the billions being poured out by the world's great powers for military implements indicated today that the United States has barely started down payments on the modern mechanized fighting machine planned for defense.

The best available statistics, by no means complete, place the minimum current arms expenditures of the six major nations at close to $50,000,000,000 annually. The outlays of numerous smaller countries would send the total higher, and no one has yet begun to estimate the monetary value of the lost lives, destroyed wealth and devastated areas in those nations bearing the brunt of the war.

Embattled Britain, for example, has recently increased her spending to a rate of nearly $20,000,000,000 annually, or about as much as all of the united kingdom's 47,000,000 people earned in a pre-war year.

In Canada, with a national income of about $4,000,000,000, the armament budget for the current year is about $810,000,000. Figures for other countries of the United Kingdom are not available.

The great bulk of the British outlay—probably about 85 per cent—is going for war purposes.

The United States, with a population nearly three times as large, is spending this year less than a third as much on her army and navy.

Next year the story will be different. By then the lag between voting money and spending it will be shortening, and Uncle Sam will be slinging out more and more of $17,000,000,000 which congress approved for national defense at its present session—and of additional billions expected to be voted after January 1.

New England Puts First Draftees in Training Quarters

Big Reduction in Expected Ranks of 30,000 by Dec. 1 Is Cut by Men Joining Army

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—Led by New England, home of the "minute men" in a bygone defense era, the nation began mustering into service today the first conscription program contingent of 19,700.

New England could thank the clock for the distinction of being first. Actual induction of trainees for a year's training also started at Chicago and on the Pacific coast, but difference in time zones gave New England the change to start earliest.

As the first young men were getting ready to start toward camp, War Department spokesmen disclosed that instead of the original estimate of 30,000, only 190,000 trainees would be put into uniform by December 1.

The reduction, officials explained, was due chiefly to the large number of recruits signing up recently for three-year "hitches" in the regular army.

Only Three Areas Figure
Only three army corps areas figured in the start of induction today. The first corps area—embracing the six New England states—had a quota of 984, and predicted a good many of the youths would be completely outfitted and in camps by nightfall.

At Chicago, headquarters of the 6th corps area, an even 100 were to be sworn in. Induction stations in the far west were ready for the first of the 1,630 men from the states on the 9th corps area.

It will be several days before the task in these areas is finished. After this limited start, the Selective Service machinery will pick up speed in the next week with the rapid extension of induction work to other areas. Its job is to have 800,000 men receiving military training by next June.

Upon completion of the first call for trainees, army sources estimated they would have approximately 511,000 men under arms, plus their officers.

This includes 380,000 in the regular army, 112,000 national guardsmen and 19,700 trainees expected by December 1.

Will Be Volunteers
Virtually every man brought in to the army under the first call for trainees will be a volunteer, officials said, explaining that 71,000 men registered for military service and available for immediate duty—that is Class 1A men—already have signified a desire to get their year of training over and have asked that they be taken regardless of their standing in the list of order numbers fixed by the draft lottery.

At induction centers today the army will fingerprint each man, give him a serial number, start his army service record and then subject him to a physical examination, which, officials said, probably would be a stiffer test than that

Tri-Nation Parley Held By Fuehrer

Ciano, Suner and Hitler Confer at Latter's Bavarian Retreat at Berchtesgaden

Spain Is Listed Observers Say Spain Has Decided to Join Axis Cause

Berchtesgaden, Germany, Nov. 18 (AP)—German diplomacy brought the foreign ministers of Germany, Italy and Spain together today in this city near Adolf Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat where many conferences of far-reaching import in the past have been held.

Informed sources in Berlin said Hitler would have individual talks with the Spanish and Italian visitors and then hold a joint conference, probably later today.

Observers interpreted the visit of the Spaniard, Ramon Serrano Suner, as indicating that Nationalist Spain now is definitely in the Axis camp and apparently ready to take a more active part in developments.

(Bern diplomatic circles reported Axis plans for drives on Greece and Gibraltar were to be discussed by German-Italian and Spanish leaders.)

Visit No Surprise
Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's arrival came as no surprise following the visit to Hitler in Berlin last week of Soviet Premier-Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

Axis representatives, it was pointed out, always have conferred immediately after conferences with third parties.

Informed sources said that Ciano besides learning all about Molotov's visit at first hand also can bring first hand information to German leaders on Premier Mussolini's talks last week with Romanian Chief of State General Ion Antonescu.

Von Ribbentrop met both visitors, Serrano Suner in the Berchtesgaden station and Ciano in Salzburg. City, army and party dignitaries in both places also greeted them.

The Italian and Spanish foreign ministers were guests of Von Ribbentrop at a luncheon in Fuschl near Salzburg, after which Baron Alexander von Doernberg, German chief of protocol, called for Serrano Suner at his hotel and took him to the Berghof, Hitler's mountain chateau.

Talks With Suner
There, the fuhrer took the Spanish minister to his office. Von Ribbentrop was present at their talk.

In Berlin, the German press declared the conferences were a sign that Germany holds all the trump. Neither the press nor official sources, however, offered even a conjecture as to the ground covered. Instead, the press, with one accord, hints that today's visits are but the beginning of "a highly political week."

(Spain and Rumania are described by the Hamburger Fremdenblatt as "two geographic pillars marking the space within which the great fight of the Axis powers against England in the Mediterranean is fought.")

(Dienst Aus Deutschland, perhaps foreshadowing a visit by Gen. Ion Antonescu, Rumanian chief of state, points out that, while talks with Serrano Suner show the diplomatic interest of the Axis in western European developments, yet interest "is equally directed towards questions of southeast Europe.")

Throughout the noisy acclaim for his leadership, Lewis stood watching impassively.

The paraders, after marching and shouting for half an hour, massed in front of the platform and roared "We want Lewis."

Preparations for the demonstration were made at a meeting of 36 CIO Union leaders yesterday, although Lewis' friends emphasized that he would not submit to a draft for a third term as CIO president.

Lewis appeared to be deeply moved by the demonstrations of support.

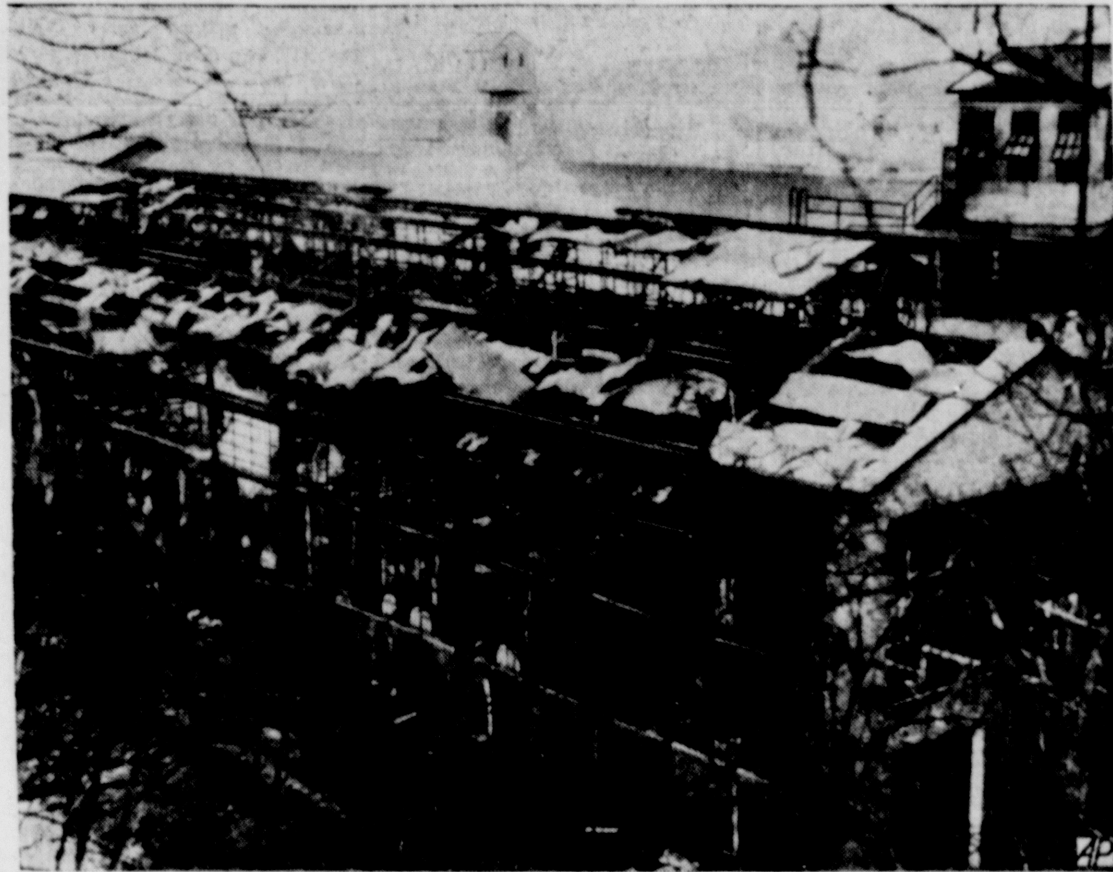

In the glare of spotlights, his eyes appeared to be moist and he turned away occasionally to slowly pace the platform.

Edward Cheyfitz, Toledo, Ohio, secretary of the National Casters Association, led the chant "We want Lewis" from a microphone amplified in front of the platform on which Lewis stood.

Vultee Meeting Arranged
Downey, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP)—A conciliation meeting was arranged today in an effort to end the strike which closed the Vultee aircraft plant Friday and halted work on scores of warplanes. The striking union ordered its west coast director to fly to the national CIO convention at Atlantic City, however, to enlist nationwide CIO support in the walkout.

Chemical Plant Explosion Injures Two Men

Here is the building of the American Cyanide and Chemical Corporation in Bridgeville, Pa., after half of it was badly demolished by an unexplained explosion, the third in a week in a plant of the company. Two men were injured, neither seriously, although Oscar Luft, plant manager, said 25 men were in the shattered building when the blast occurred. Damage was reported officially to county detectives at $250,000.

C.I.O. Gives Big Demonstration to Lewis at Parley

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 18 (AP)—Taking up the gavel for the last time as CIO president, John L. Lewis, with tears in his eyes, told CIO's convention delegates today that he was stepping down as their leader, and urged them to unite their ranks and support whoever they name as his successor.

To a hushed throng which a few minutes earlier had given him a thunderous ovation, Lewis said:

"I won't be with you long. I have done my work and in a few days I'll be out of this office."

Gets Ovation
Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 18 (AP)—CIO unionists opened their third annual convention today with a roaring demonstration for John L. Lewis under whose leadership CIO began five years ago.

"Forward with Lewis and CIO," was the slogan of enthusiastic Lewis partisans, many of whom have been outspoken in their demands that Lewis give up his plan to retire as CIO president.

Confetti, horns, bells and deafening cheers greeted Lewis as he appeared to take over his job as presiding officer.

Leonard Goldsmith, executive secretary of the New Jersey CIO council presented Lewis as "the real leader of the American people."

The convention stood up and roared "We want Lewis."

The scene of the CIO meeting took on the appearance of a national convention as delegates swarmed into the aisles and paraded with banners and band music.

'We Want Lewis'
The paraders sang "Solidarity Forever" and boomed "We want Lewis."

Delegates from Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union sat quietly through most of the show. They stood briefly as a "courtesy to the president's office," they said, but explained they saw no reason to remain standing in the turbulent scene.

The Hillman union and the Lewis forces have been in disagreement for months over CIO policies.

Through the noisy acclaim for his leadership, Lewis stood watching impassively.

The paraders, after marching and shouting for half an hour, massed in front of the platform and roared "We want Lewis."

Factory Executive Charges Sabotage Wrecked His Plant

Bomb Manufacturer Says Foul Play Responsible; Cyanamid Corp. Has $250,000 Blast

Pittsburgh, Nov. 18 (AP)—The third mysterious explosion within a week in plants of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corporation baffled investigators today while a bomb factory owner declared sabotage destroyed his concern by fire.

The terrific blast at the chemical corporation's nearby Bridgeville works yesterday injured two workmen and caused $250,000 damage to one of the largest of 45 buildings on the 65-acre grounds. A minor blaze was extinguished quickly.

Two hours earlier, fire swept the small plant of the Pennsylvania Chemical Company at Johnstown, 80 miles away. Michael Bozich, the owner, declared it was "arson with the intention of sabotage," and set the loss at $13,000.

Bozich said his company was working on a government order for incendiary bombs to be delivered shortly to the army proving grounds. He claimed that tests proved his bombs—one pound in weight and 15 inches long—were three times more effective than any others now in use.

Glass of the windows nearest the origin of the fire was found inside the ruins, Bozich told state police, while that of other windows was found outside. He added that a steel folding chair taken from the debris did not belong to him and that he never had such a chair in the building.

Heard Five Miles Away
The Bridgeville blast was heard five miles away. An aged woman was knocked off her feet in a house a block away and scores of windows in the neighborhood were shattered. One chimney toppled.

Plant Manager Oscar Luft said he had "no idea" what caused the explosion and declared it was "extremely fortunate" that additional workmen were not hurt by the blast.

Buffalo Area Has Snowfall, Counts Death as Result

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP)—The weather man brought one death and dangerous highway conditions to several sections of upstate New York state this week-end.

Snow flurries, sub-freezing temperatures and ice-coated pavements gave to central, northern and southwestern New York what state police termed "severe traffic hazards."

In Buffalo, William J. Schroeder, 66, died while shoveling snow and three-inch fall there prevented airplanes from landing at the city airport.

Six inches fell in Cattaraugus county and county snow plows were used to clear it off the highways. No traffic tieups were reported there however.

Cortland county also received six inches and the temperature there dropped to 15 degrees above zero early yesterday. State police urged motorists to use "extreme caution" in northern Herkimer and Oneida counties.

A light rain fell in near-freezing temperatures in Syracuse last night while in the southern part of Onondaga county, which had a six-inch snowfall, plows were made ready for immediate use in the event of serious drifting.

Traffic also was reduced to a crawl by icy roads in Erie, Chautauque, Orleans, Genesee, Monroe and Livingston counties, state police said.

In eastern New York, temperatures hovered about the freezing mark but light snow flurries did not impede traffic.

Pope Will Broadcast

R. A. F. Aids Greeks in New Fight

Italians Are Reported to Have Fallen Back 25 Miles Further in Albania

Tanks Are Caught

Some Tanks Trapped, 130 Flee Albania to Yugoslavia

Athens, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Italians sent wave after wave of infantry crashing against Greek mountain positions today in an effort to prevent the capture of Koritza, Fascist invasion base, but the Greeks reported they repelled all attacks and gained new ground as well.

In their desperate attempt to thwart the Greek ring of steel being drawn around this most important city in Albania, the Italians were said also to have thrown a large force of dive-bombers into the battle.

The Greek air force, aided by Britain's RAF, itself bombed Italian positions heavily and pummeled troop-jammed roads leading out of Koritza, which is 10 miles inside Albania.

Greeks reported Italian mechanized columns were hopelessly trapped north of Koritza and foreign sources said one column of 130 Italian tanks had fled into Yugoslavia.

(A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from the Greek-Yugoslav frontier said 600 Italian troops and 130 tanks crossed the border and surrendered to Yugoslav authorities last night.)

The hard-pressed Italians were reported falling back from Koritza to a new defense line 25 miles deep in Albania.

Defense Is Desperate
All along the border battlefield, Greek military reports indicated, the invasion of Greece which Italian forces launched three weeks ago today has turned into a desperate defense of Albania from fierce Greek counter drives.

A government spokesman declared last night that Greek mountain troops who seized new heights commanding Koritza, springboard for the Italian invasion toward Florina and Salonika, had driven to the very gates of the fortified city.

The Italians were reported fighting a rear-guard action there to cover the withdrawal, under fire, of strong forces which barely escaped being trapped.

The motorized column reported cut off was said to have attempted a "last chance" dash through snow-clogged mountain passes toward the Yugoslav frontier.

Some of the tanks, as well as abandoned war material, were reported in Greek hands, and Greek advance parties were said to have penetrated northeast of Koritza to positions commanding the Koritza-Yugoslavia road which passes between Lake Prespa and Lake Ochrida.

In the Pindus mountain sector, north of the Greek town of Koritza, the Greeks were said by a government spokesman to be pushing into Albania.

(The Italians, mentioning the fighting only in one paragraph of their communiqué yesterday, said "especially hard" attacks and counter-attacks had broken along the front after a lull and added that Italian planes were bombing and machine-gunning Greek advance positions and communications behind the lines. They also reported bombing objectives in Crete.)

(A British communiqué said RAF planes, which have dropped bombs repeatedly on Italian communications with forces in Albania, struck again over the weekend at Brindisi, Italian port opposite Albania.)

The Greek ministry of home security said last night two Greek villages were bombed and machine-gunned by Fascist fighters but that there were no casualties.

(Reports from Yugoslavia told of a third violation of Yugoslav neutrality by four foreign aircraft which crossed the border yesterday, swept through Yugoslav anti-aircraft fire and dropped 26 bombs on Kicevo and two nearby villages 40 miles from the Greek-Yugoslav-Albanian frontier. The planes, which were not identified, were pursued by Yugoslav fighter planes.)

Mince pies and plum puddings! Reappearance of this pair definitely heralds the holidays. You'd better get some practice in making up these winter stand-bys so you can turn them out at top speed when Thanksgiving arrives.

Here are recipes that click. They can be used all winter. Some are brand new; others are faintly doctored to meet changing times, varying pocketbooks and whimsical moods.

MINCE MEAT AND CRANBERRIES, mixed together make a pie with a tantalizing flavor. Mix 2 cups of prepared mince meat with ½ cup raisins and pour into an unbaked pie crust. Cover with a cup of cranberries, mixed thoroughly with 2-3 cup granulated sugar, a tablespoon flour, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind and ¼ teaspoon salt. Pour ¼ cup orange or spiced peach juice over the filling and cover with a top crust. Bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven, then lower the heat and bake 35 more minutes.

Mince meat is improved when moistened with leftover fruit juices, orange juice, cider or spiced fruit liquid. Or brandy for those who want it. About a fourth cup of liquid per pie is ample.

Always serve MINCE PIE hot. To reheat it, carefully cover with a pie pan and leave it for 10 minutes in a moderate oven. You can sprinkle grated cheese over the top crust before it is heated. The cheese will melt and form a crusty, brown top with a delicious flavor. Mince pies made up a day or so ahead should be stored in a cool place.

For those waist-watchers who love rich foods but cannot often indulge, this FRUIT PIE is grand and not so heavy as mince pie. Mix a cup of sugar with ½ cup flour, 1-3 teaspoon salt and 1-3 cup each of apricot, orange, prune and lemon juices. Cook slowly until thick. Stir constantly. Add ¼ cup each chopped cooked prunes, apricots and figs. Add 1-3 cup broken nuts, ¼ cup raisins and pour into a crust-lined pie pan. Cover with strips of pastry, crisscross fashion. Bake 10 minutes at about 450 degrees. Lower the heat and bake 25 more minutes.

STEAMED FRUIT PUDDING STANBURY is less rich than most plum puddings but equally as good. Soak 2 cups of bread crumbs half an hour in a cup of hot milk. Add a cup of chopped suet, cup of dark brown sugar, 3 eggs, beaten, ¼ cup fruit juices (any kind), teaspoon each of vanilla, cinnamon, cloves and grate orange rind, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup flour, teaspoon soda and a cup each of chopped prunes, dates and figs, ½ cup each chopped citron, nuts and candied fruit peels (assorted). Half fill greased pudding mold and steam 3 hours. Serve hot with hard sauce or sherry or fruit liquid sauce.

CARROT PUDDING EMERSON in a new version of an old standby. It fits the leaner pocketbooks, and helps keep down the charged with overtime parking, posted bail for his appearance later.

Five arrests were made on charges of passing full stop signs. Marion Oakley of Olive Bridge had his case set for later as did Crawford G. Millham of 289 Clifford avenue and Hasbrouck Davis of High Falls.

Ross K. Pickens of Gardiner and George H. Foster of 134 Downs street each forfeited $2 bail.

Ellenville Youth Bags 8-Point Buck
Jack Hopkins, 16-year-old son of Sergeant John Hopkins, of the Ellenville station state police, is undoubtedly the proudest and most envied boy in Ulster county just now.

Jack went out with some other young fellows on his first deer hunt yesterday. When he came home he brought with him a handsome eight-point buck that tipped the scales at around 200 pounds. He shot the buck on the Shawangunk mountains, back of Spring Glen.

Always treat a gun as though it were loaded—even though you know it isn't.

Jellied Mince Pie and How to Make It
2 cups apples, chopped very fine
1 cup seeded raisins, chopped fine
½ cup currants
¼ cup chopped citron
¼ cup chopped candied orange peel
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1-3 teaspoon allspice
1-3 teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon salt
2 ¼ cups water
1 envelope plain unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 baked pastry shell

Mix apples, raisins, currants, citron, orange peel, sugar, spices and salt with two cups of the water. Simmer until apples are very tender. Soften gelatine in remaining ¼ cup water and dissolve in hot fruit mixture. Add lemon juice and cool. When mixture just begins to thicken slightly, pour into baked pie shell and chill. Serve with hot orange sauce, hard sauce or whipped cream, as desired.

Center of pie may be garnished with turkey cut out of pastry. Use a currant for the eye. Brush lightly with melted butter and bake in a hot oven until lightly browned. Strips of baked pastry may be used instead of the turkey.

HOT ORANGE SAUCE
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
6 marshmallows, cut fine

Mix sugar and cornstarch together. Add a little of the orange juice to make a thin, smooth paste. Add remaining orange juice and cook until clear and thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add butter, lemon juice, grated rind and cut marshmallows. Stir or beat with rotary beater until marshmallows are completely melted and sauce is smooth. Serve over jellied mince pie.

Oil heat at surprisingly low cost
wherever this "skinflint" burner is installed

That's what home owners say about the Model P Petro & Nokoi Oil Burner. For no other burner has "Tubular Atomization" that produces lazy, quiet, more efficient soft flame combustion, resulting in greater heat release in the burning of the fuel.

Built for small home heating plants, this Petro & Nokoi knows just how to squeeze every drop of fuel oil heat-dry. It's a "chiseler" that trims fuel oil bills.

See it. Priced today at bedrock, even though costs are rising. Install now—start paying next fall.

great chunks of falling steel and concrete.

There were 100 to 150 workmen on duty at the time but only 25 in the 600 by 100-foot building which Luft described as "half-demolished." John Pinto, 45, was treated for a dislocated shoulder and Calvin Herron, 40, for cuts and bruises.

No Defense Contracts

Luft said the plant had no national defense contracts. The company, he explained, employed a catalytic oxidation of naphthalene process in the manufacture of phthalic anhydride, a raw material used in chemicals, especially for synthetic resins.

An explosion a week ago killed the plant superintendent in the corporation's calco chemical division at Bound Brook, N. J. Three days later, 1,000 pounds of dynamite exploded and killed three men in the company's small dynamite wrapping works near New Castle, Pa., 50 miles northwest of here. More than a dozen other persons were killed the same day by plant blasts at Woodbridge, N. J., and Allentown, Pa.

the "English loud speaker" and he took pains to give his people these answers to their unspoken questions: That only a few of their fathers, sons and brothers are dying in the cruel mountains of the Greek frontier; that only one battleship was badly damaged at Taranto; that no lightning triumph must be expected to rise from the mud and crags and of Epirus and the Pindus; that Britain started the whole thing by really "attacking" Italy five years ago; that the Greeks hated Italy and conspired with Britain to beat her.

What Mussolini did not say was how he and Adolf Hitler proposed to get Italy out of the slump she is in. If Duce did, it is true, promise to start his troops on the march again in the Western Egyptian desert, on the way toward Suez, but it is clear now that a resumption of this offensive depends upon fracture of British sea power in the Mediterranean and easement of the difficult Italian situation on the Greek-Albanian border.

That is being dealt with today at Berchtesgaden, front yard of Adolf Hitler's eyrie, and it is one of the best bets you can make today that the men of Germany, Italy and Spain are talking about the prospects or even laying the final plans for a German assault, by way of Spain, on Britain's Gibraltar—on which Britain's Mediterranean sea power largely rests.

Drive May Be Planned

They may also be planning a simultaneous German drive down through Bulgaria to outflank and crush the Greeks, but here again another omission of Mussolini's must be taken into account.

It Duce did not say whether he would have any German troops to help him in the Greek campaign. Instead he reiterated rather vaguely that German and Italian collaboration is "comradely and totalitarian," that he and Hitler think exactly alike.

There is pretty fair evidence that Germany would like to avoid embroiling Turkey right now, and a German march through Bulgaria would risk that. So it is possible that German aid to Italy at this time will take the form of an attempt to crack Britain's naval hold on the Mediterranean.

What chance there is of Gibraltar holding out against modern forms of attack by land is an entirely unknown quantity. There have been extensive defense works on the low-lying isthmus which connects the classic pillar of Hercules to the Spanish mainland, but they have had no test.

Probably both Spain and Italy will play passive parts in this assault, if it comes. Spain would provide the hospitable road to Gibraltar for the German divisions marching south from the Pyrenees. In Africa, Spain's troops in Morocco and Italy's in Libya will stand close guard on the undefeated and unweakened French army of North Africa.

This French army, under General Maxime Weygand, still is a mysterious factor in the Mediterranean struggle. Obviously it does not regard Italy in the light of its conqueror nor has it any brotherly love for nationalist Spain. It might strike back quickly and viciously if it considered France's African territory endangered, despite its allegiance to the government of defeat and armistice at Vichy.

Will Hold Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen Association will be held at Stone Ridge tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock as guest of the newly organized Stone Ridge Fire Department. A large delegation will be expected to inspect the new fire house and truck. The guest speaker will be Sherwood Davis of Kingston. At this meeting the board of directors will have their report in regards to the Volunteer Firemen School which they are trying to organize for Ulster county.

Texans Win Again

The Texas Lunch basketball team won its second game of the season Saturday at the municipal auditorium by defeating the Mercury Fireballs, 25-18. Sagendorf led the attack with 10 points while Mathers and Murphy accounted for the losers 18 points. The score: Texan's, Sweeney 4, Sagendorf 10, Tetelman 4, Berinato 2, Olivet 5, Mercury, Murphy 8, Mathers 10.

Gift to Red Cross

The Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross has received a check for $20 from G. A. Craig, treasurer of the Council of "Better Movies," as a contribution to the Roll Call. This council has recently disorganized and the officers decided that the amount on hand in the treasury could be used to excellent advantage by the local Red Cross.

Duce Says War Started by British

ferred enormous losses, fled and been pulverized by the Greeks, was seen by General Soddu, who after his visit telegraphed me November 12.

"I went this morning to visit the Julia Alpine division and must report a magnificent impression was brought back from this superb unit, stronger than ever in its Alpine rocks."

Will Break Greece

"With absolute certainty I tell you we will break Greece's back. Whether in two months or 12 months, it little matters."

"The war has barely begun. We have men and means to annihilate all Greek resistance. English aid can not prevent accomplishment of this most firm proposal."

"To think or suspect something otherwise, means not to know me."

"We have a million men under arms. But we can call 8,000,000 more if necessary." Germans and Italians together, we are a bloc of 150,000,000, resolute, compact and firm from Norway to Libya.

"This bloc already has victory in its fist."

Preparation for the fight between the totalitarian powers and the "old world" began at the time the sanctions were voted by the League of Nations, Il Duce declared.

The Italian premier prefaced his statement on the Taranto raid by saying:

"A strong people like the Italians does not fear the truth—it demands it."

For this reason, Il Duce said, Italian military communiqués record "not only the blows we give but also those we receive."

He congratulated the Italians on the spirit with which they bore war-imposed sacrifices, then warned:

"These sacrifices so far are tolerable, but they may become more severe."

Attacks Great Britain

Mussolini began his speech with a furious attack on England which he said was exclusively to blame for the war.

The preparation for war began when the League of Nations imposed economic sanctions on Italy five years ago for the invasion of Ethiopia, he said.

The peace still could have been preserved, he declared, "if England had not rejected every one of Germany's attempts at rapprochement."

It could have been saved, he added, if England had not adopted a program of "encirclement" of Germany and if England, in response to Mussolini's last minute attempt to forestall war after the Polish invasion had begun, had not imposed "humiliating conditions that German troops should withdraw from Polish soil."

Il Duce said the war, once begun, could be concluded now only "with the annihilation of the modern Carthage—England."

He said Italy's operations in Egypt foreshadowed resumption of the Italian offensive and added that the Italian attack on Sidi Barrani "must be taken not as the conclusion, but as a premise."

EXPLOSIONS

It may do no harm for Representative Martin L. Dies to look into those munition plant explosions, for some of them, at least, are certainly "un-American activities." But it looks more like a job for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which is better equipped for that sort of inquiry. And fortunately the F.B.I. is said to be already busy, with operatives investigating the recent blasts and spreading a network of inquiry throughout the country.

The destruction of three explosive manufacturing plants last Tuesday, almost simultaneously, could not have been accidental. The chances against it would probably be a million to one. Both the experts and the public are inclined to believe that nearly all such disasters in recent weeks and months have been deliberate crimes committed by alien enemies. The purpose of such a campaign of destruction and terror is presumably to scare the American public and interfere with our military preparations and our shipment of munitions to England.

Fortunately our people and government don't scare very easily. And the munition workers continue to display their usual courage and loyalty in going quietly ahead with their work. But it is intolerable to have such criminal sabotage interfering with what is now the most important work in this country. It must be stopped if it takes an army of detectives and a military guard for every factory.

THREE FUTURE EMPIRES

Dr. Clinton Howard, professor of history at the University of California, expects three great empires to emerge from the present world wars.

One, he believes, will be an Anglo-American empire, "federal in structure, maritime in culture and having seapower as its means of communication and defense." A second will be a Russo-Siberian empire based on "resources and personalities as yet undeveloped." The third will be some type of Sino-Japanese empire with either group dominating, just which he is uncertain at this time.

It is interesting that he does not include a German-dominated Europe. He expects the present war to leave that continent broken economically and exhausted spiritually. He believes it will be divided between the Anglo-American hegemony and the Russo-Siberian.

Whether or not such changes are good will depend on how the new empires are governed and what degree of freedom their people have for "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." They might be cooperative groups making possible a greater stability, higher world culture, and truer democracy than we yet have seen on such a large scale.

BRITAIN TO WIN

There has been an astonishing reversal of opinion about the Nazi war since the days of France's surrender, reports Leland Stowe of the Chicago Daily News. By this time people throughout the whole Balkan area believe Britain can win. Her demonstrated ability to "take it and see it through" has convinced them, he says, alike in the Balkan capitals and in Athens and Istanbul. He now finds them betting money on "an Anglo-Saxon victory."

That was written before the big British naval victory at Taranto, and it is probably the best news that Britain or America has heard in this war. The conflict is still far from conclusion. But the amazing fact that the Balkan peoples themselves, even while they are in virtual bondage to Hitler, believe in his inevitable defeat, makes the struggle easier and the result surer for those who have to bear the main burden of wiping this horror from the earth.

OBSERVATORY ON THE MOON?

The monthly publication of Griffiths Observatory in California carries an article described as "something between sober scientific description and fantasy." It deals with rocket trips to the moon, not so many centuries from now. It suggests that scientists will take such trips, not just for the ride but in order to set up there telescopes of a size not dreamed of on earth.

It will be necessary to accomplish quite a few things before this comes about, they frankly admit. First, they must discover a proper fuel, a goal "not so fantastic as it sounds." A review of the scientific marvels and discoveries of the past century encourages them to change the word "impossible" for "probable," in this connection.

Travelers to the moon will wear special suits constructed to counteract atmospheric changes. They will carry large shipments of air from the earth so that they will be able to breathe while gallivanting around the universe.

From the moon, men may learn to take off to other celestial airports. This will, of course, be fun for astronomers, perhaps even for vacation and week-end trippers. Or are the scientists spoofing?

Our labor experts keep right on arguing about whether to work hard for short hours or take it easy for long hours, and we may finally compromise on working hard for long hours.

If there are so many big mosquitoes on the Burma Road, they must have 'em at Mandalay, too, where the Burma girl's a-settin' and a-thinkin' of Tommy Atkins, and that spoils a favorite picture.

Hitler says no coalition of powers can beat him, so Britain may have to do it alone, and she seems to have a pretty good start on it already.

DANDRUFF

Perhaps you have been reading about various cures for dandruff or have tried some without obtaining a cure. That dandruff is a forerunner or cause of loss of hair is not true according to many research workers. But whether or not dandruff causes loss of hair, it is a distressing and embarrassing condition and it is not to be wondered at that those so afflicted are willing to try and try any and every dandruff "cure."

The Federal Trade Commission of the United States, after an investigation of dandruff, states that there is no proof that dandruff is due to any infection. In Public Health Reports, Washington, D. C., Dr. C. W. Emmons states that while a small yeastlike organism is always present in the dry or greasy scales of dandruff, it can also be found in normal scalp where no dandruff is present.

This little organism is known as the "bottle bacillus" and many investigators have tried in vain to cause it to grow as other tiny organisms are made to grow. Even those research workers who have been successful in growing this organism admit that they have not been able to cause dandruff in any scalp by inoculation with this organism.

Instead of trying to infect a normal scalp and thus perhaps cause dandruff, it was decided to inoculate an individual who already had dandruff and to measure whether this inoculation caused any increase in the time required to develop dandruff in places where dandruff was extensive as compared with places where dandruff was absent or scant.

The dandruff did not appear any sooner in the inoculated spots than in the other spots.

This proves, that, with our present knowledge at least, dandruff is not likely due to the organism that hitherto has been blamed for it.

The above information does not mean that something should not be done about dandruff. Until the cause is found, the frequent use of soap and water on the scalp, or the use of various proprietary preparations should be continued. The cleansing and rubbing of the scalp in itself is helpful in that it not only loosens and removes scales but stimulates the circulation of the blood in the scalp.

Washington—Note on Oriental hygiene:

According to word received here, the Japanese government has altered its rules and regulations and the people hereafter will be allowed only one cotton towel a year instead of one every three years, as previously.

The new regulations, it is reported, came as the result of widespread complaint. When the one-every-three-years rule was invoked, the Japanese, at their daily ablutions, had to use "ersatz" towels. The cotton was needed for war materials. This might have been all right had not the towels had a way of dissolving into moist nothingness. Hence the complaints and hence the new ruling and a permit for each Japanese to have one cotton towel a year.

Now-it-can-be-told Note: An absentee-voter friend from California tells us that the presidential election ballots of that state are printed under specifications of law, the candidates names appearing in alphabetical order just under the name of the party. California's national ballot for the recent election, he says, ran like this: Prohibition—Roger W. Babson; Communist—Earl Browder;

Progressive—Norman Thomas; Democratic—Franklin D. Roosevelt; and Townsend-Republican—Wendell L. Willkie.

Ditto Note: At one midwestern city where the Willkie train stopped, two prankish newspapermen climbed on a truck with the five-piece brass band that was supposed to provide incidental music for the speech-making. After a lot of preliminary, gracious insinuation, the jokesters prevailed upon the band to play a request number. The timing was perfect. Just as Mr. Willkie made his appearance, the band blared for the request, "Happy Days Are Here Again." Man who laughed heartiest at being introduced with Roosevelt's old campaign song: Wendell L. Willkie.

Musician's Dilemma Note: The Department of Commerce has just added two more to its rapidly growing list of problems created by our war-disjointed trade. The imports of harmonicas and accordions have struck a decided sour note. It seems that before the war most of our "mouth harps" came from Germany. In an eight-month period since the war started, harmonica imports dropped from 5,611,346 to 1,353,480. BUT, of those pre-war imports, 5,100-138 harmonicas came from Germany, while since, we have received only 226,183. Most of the difference was made up by tripling our imports from Japan to 1,600,000 and getting another 100,000 from China and Switzerland.

The accordion and concertina business wasn't so bad for a while, but it's getting rapidly worse. Imports of piano accordions with less than 120 bass keys dropped 65 per cent in the period reviewed to 8,306—but Italy supplied more than 7,000 of these.

Italy also supplied more than 11,000 of the 12,000 accordions with more than 120 bass keys which were imported in the eight-month period. That was before Italy was in the war.

It begins to look as if there is a good opening in the harmonica and accordion business over here.

Modernization-of-Laws Note: The statute books of the United States carry laws forbidding either the photographic reproduction of coins or stamps, except in the case, respectively, of numismatic (coin) and philatelic (stamp) journals. In order to publicize their wares properly, the Treasury Department, on the one hand, and the Postoffice Department on the other ruled that all newspapers are numismatic and philatelic journals.

Real estate values rose from $84 an acre in 1914 to $120 an acre in 1929 and have since lost about one-half of the increase.

The Army's Ready This Time; Private Misfit's Out of Date

Men won't be pouring into camps in as large numbers as they did in 1917-18. The result will be better camp organization, better sanitation and more attention to mind.

The life of a soldier is not what it used to be. Morgan Beatty of the AP Feature Service found this out when he investigated where the new draftees would be going and what they would be going.

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington—The big difference between the draft army of 1940 and the draft army of 1917-18 is about 3,000,000 men.

And what a whale of a difference 3,000,000 men make!

In World war days, the army had to take on more than it could handle. For a while they pushed a million men a month through the training camps.

Naturally there were 90-day-wonder shavetails who'd march companies right off cliffs if the sergeant didn't stop them. Sanitation was not all that could be desired. Camp streets often were seas of mud. And the army was handling weapons many of its officers didn't understand.

Meant To Stop It

There's that classic about the infantry officer who so colored the death rate in forced airplane landings that he posted this bulletin on a Texas air field:

"Effective this date, there will be no more forced landings!"

Shoes and uniforms seldom fit well in 1917. Haste was the reason for all this. We were arming too fast, training men too fast.

This time, the medical corps says it is ready to cope with all preventable epidemics. The doctors remember the tragedy of the 1918 flu epidemic. Uniforms have been modified for easy fitting. Every camp will have a shoe fitting machine. Air officers will give orders to air troops.

The army's punch card system is probably the outstanding difference. Under it men will give their trades, hobbies, preferences, hopes. And they'll be given jobs that fit them when possible. (More about this in another article.)

The army hopes Private Misfit will not haunt his officers as he did in 1918.

One day a World war commanding officer got a requisition for all expert automobile mechanics in his camp. He sent for Private Misfit.

"What did you do before you got in the army?"

"Engraver, sir."

"You must be mistaken," said the exasperated commander.

"Think! Weren't you an automobile mechanic?"

"Well, sir, I don't—"

"Just what I thought. Pack up your duds and report to headquarters as an expert automobile mechanic!"

Won't Happen Again

That won't happen again, unless the punch card machine slips a cog.

And P.S. Mom and Dad: The army says you can visit the training camps most any time to see for yourself how all this is working out. But if there's something special about your son the army ought to know, please take it up with the draft board BEFORE he gets in. It'll be ever so much easier to straighten out.

Tomorrow: What the soldiers of 1940-41 will wear.

Lingering Sadness in Minority Ranks at Loss of Election
Should Give Victors Something to Consider

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 18.—Two weeks have gone by since the election and yet there lingers a sadness in the camp of the vanquished which the victors would do well to study. For in the tragedy of defeat is an unmistakable urge to continue fighting. It is not a vague, indefinable urge based on mere desire to win some day nor is it personal or bitter. It is a feeling of worry arising out of a conviction that trouble lies ahead for free America and that the election really settled nothing except perhaps one point, namely that many people had their eyes fixed on Europe and on what a change in administration at a critical time might mean rather than to the fundamental weaknesses in our economic and social structure at home.

There is one reason why the cries of national unity are so misleading. For example, since election many speakers and writers have talked about finding a place for Mr. Willkie in the government on the theory that this gesture of superficial unity would really go to the heart of America's post-election problem.

If there is to be recognition of the minority as a useful part of our American democracy, it can come by forgetting about Mr. Willkie's role as an individual except as a symbol of nation-wide discontent and basic criticism. It can come by restoring to the minority in America the rights they have had heretofore when the Republicans were in the majority. It is a simple formula. It takes cognizance of the broad principle of minority representation in government all along the line. Time was when federal judges were picked from both parties. The majority usually wound up with about 60 per cent of the place. Today the majority party has about 95 per cent.

Then again on bi-partisan commissions, the minority principle has been seriously impaired by the present administration. Appointments of so-called Republicans are made with tongue in cheek. If the law calls for bi-partisan representation, a stunt is promptly instituted for Republicans will be rubber stamp New Dealers. They are not hard to find among the job-seeking elements.

But more important than a proper recognition of the minority in making appointments that are bona fide selections from the opposition is the question of recognizing and accepting minority criticism on its merits. It is not really relevant whether Willkie is invited into the government by the President, but whether any attention is going to be paid to the many things he said in the campaign that have universal support already or are likely to have two and four years hence unless serious attention is paid to them now.

If the opponents of the Roosevelt administration who did not for a moment believe Wendell Willkie if elected would alter our foreign policy, were to search their minds they would find centrally located in their criticism a deep fear that the present administration, consciously or unconsciously, is heading us for the worst financial catastrophe the United States has ever known.

This correspondent prefers to believe that the administration's advisers would not deliberately invite financial chaos and that the present fiscal plight of the nation is due to the sheer ignorance of New Dealers in high places as to what really makes a system of private capitalism work. Most of the men who shape national policy here have never handled risk capital of their own and hence do not understand its implications or obligations and are, therefore, lost in their own confidence that magic can be worked with other people's money.

The sort of magic for a while has fooled every government in the world that has tried it as far back as the history of government began to be recorded. The devices are always new, but the basic weaknesses never change. Already the cry is heard that the new era of today is different, that the administration can control prices and runaway inflation, and that once the national income is boosted to higher levels all will be well. This is reminiscent, however, only of the fatal defiance of economic law which brought on the panic of 1929.

What makes the outlook so discouraging and the need for alert opposition so vital is the complacency of the administration which since election has not uttered a single word or announced a single action to reverse the trend of financial mismanagement in the national government. Instead the administration apparently reads the election returns to mean that deficit financing has been approved, government debt increases can go on and on, and that America can continue to live indefinitely on borrowed money. Also with a crisis overseas and at home, the Democratic majority is ready to ignore the protest vote of 22,000,000 in the last election and lay down on the job this week while its members go off on another vacation. These are the things voters might well begin to put down for further reckoning 18 months hence when the nation elects another Congress. It's the next "Battle of America."

Unfortunately those who argue against dangerous trends, as the spenders here prepare to waste more and more billions without ever a thought of paying back these borrowings, cannot prove at this moment that catastrophe is around the corner. Sometimes it takes years for these influences to bring on a national bankruptcy and receivership. Thus it was not until 1923—fully five years after the 1918 armistice—before post-war Germany had her frightful inflation from which she never recovered and in consequence of which she finally invited Herr Hitler to come in as a receiver.

The day of reckoning has not been eliminated by the election a fortnight ago. It has merely been postponed: It's because millions of the minority group feel apprehensive and believe millions of the majority were deceived in the last campaign by undue emphasis on the foreign situation that today there is a demand for action on the valid criticisms on domestic policy made during the campaign. Millions of Americans who feel they voted unsuccessfully on November 5, 1940 to reverse a trend toward national bankruptcy will not feel happy if someday they achieve the doubtful satisfaction of being able to say, "I told you so" to the millions of persons in the low-income groups whose disillusioned cries will be the first to be heard when inflation sends the price level to fantastic heights and breaks down confidence in the purchasing power of their savings.

To avoid such an economic collapse out of which conceivably could come a Communist or Fascist revolution or at any rate a drastic change in the social order, the minority might well continue its warnings and its pleas, urging on the majority party and the President, the elimination at once of wasteful expenditure and a calm and dispassionate revision of New Deal restrictions on the American system of private initiative, capital flow and productive efficiency. Beagle Tale
This is hard to believe, but it is supposed to be authentic. A sportsman of Virginia owned a beagle, which, apparently was very homesome. It disappeared one day and showed up the following morning with a baby woodchuck. The dog nursed the woodchuck for several weeks until it was weaned. The two animals became inseparable companions throughout the summer. Then last fall the wild animal disappeared. At the present the beagle stays away a great deal, presumably making its home with the woodchuck.

In the neighborhood of four thousand United States Army Air Corps Flying Cadets during 1941 will receive their primary flight training under the direct personal supervision of Oliver L. Parks, president of Parks Air College, according to present plans. This is a part of the greatly expanded program for training Flying Cadets, which calls for the training of approximately twenty-five thousand pilots in the next year.

Geneva, N. Information about these salt values has been made available to all cheese makers in the state through the Department of Agriculture and Markets and much of the scientific data have been published in the bulletins of the Experiment Station and in the trade journals.

Rare Bird

Wisconsin now has a new feathered resident. When a Forest Ranger of the Chequamegon National Forest and Herbert Ochsen of the Division of Timber Management observed a yellow-headed woodpecker recently while on a timber sale, their curiosity was aroused. A Wildlife expert pronounced the bird an arctic three-toed woodpecker. Field men of the Milwaukee Museum verified the conclusion. This species of bird is very rare, and it is the first time that it has ever been seen in Wisconsin.

Regularity of meal hours and a certain length of time in which to eat before the food is removed, with no comment on the amount eaten, is important to a convalescent child. Otherwise he may over-emphasize the importance of eating and try to gain attention through refusing to eat; this habit may carry over beyond the period of recovery.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Aiken, S. C.—The name of a young man who registered for the draft here is Kindly Draft. He lives in Aiken county.

Old Time Religion

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—A new version of "like father, like son" cropped up in domestic court when a 21-year-old bride of four months charged her spouse with threats and non-support.

"When I insisted he take a bath," she testified, "he told me that his father only took a bath every six months and what was good enough for his father was good enough for him."

Luck Is Like That

Chicago—Cab Driver Sam Abrams felt pretty good. He was back on the job after five days' illness and a friend had just paid a $5 debt of long standing.

And then—two men hailed his cab, shoved guns in his ribs and robbed him of $12, including the five spot. They even fished around in the gutter to retrieve a quarter which Abrams had dropped. Then they drove off in the cab.

Alteration

Chicago—B. C. Lehman, a tailor, took a $35 tuck in the loot which three robbers obtained from his shop.

He had his hand on a $45 roll of bills in his pocket when the men entered the shop, ordered him to face the wall. While complying, he sneaked $35 off of the roll and tucked it down his waistband. The robbers fled with the other $10, plus $150 from the cash register.

Doctor-less

Manila, Utah—Daggett county's 564 citizens may have a trouble-some winter, medically speaking. The CCC camp—and its physician—was transferred. He was the only doctor within 50 miles of this frequently snowbound town.

An interesting thing is that the chestnut is killed down to the ground line only. The roots survive for a long time, sprout freely, and send up vigorous shoots. This is encouraging, but the sprouts in turn become infected and die.

Burnett Receives Templar Honors

Rondout Commandery Member Elevated

GEORGE D. BURNETT

At the regular stated convocation of Rondout Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar, Wednesday evening, Em. Sir George D. Burnett of 143 Harding avenue, this city, was presented with a commission as Grand Representative of the state of Georgia near the Grand Commandery of the State of New York.

The presentation was made by Em. Sir Charles Czerwinski, past commander of Rondout Commandery and zone aide for the 5th Templar District, comprising the counties of Ulster, Rockland, Dutchess and Orange. In making the presentation Em. Sir Czerwinski called attention to the long service rendered to Rondout Commandery and the Grand Commandery of New York state by Em. Sir Burnett; it was through his efforts while commander of Rondout Commandery in 1936 and '37 that the 125th Grand Convocation of the Grand Commandery of the state of New York was brought to Kingston in June, 1938. He served as general chairman of the Grand Convocation committee and his untiring work in this capacity was in no small degree responsible for the success of this Grand Convocation.

It is the first time in about 30 years that Rondout Commandery has received the distinctive honor of having one of its past commanders chosen for this high honor.

The commission as grand representative of the state of Georgia is signed by Rt. Em. Grand Commander J. Paul Stephens and authorizes Sir Knight Burnett to represent this grand commandery and transact all its official business before the Grand Commandery of the state of New York.

Em. Sir Burnett is a member of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, Mt. Horeb Chapter No. 75, and Ancient City Council No. 21.

Learn Music With Feet

Whenever learning can be made into an exciting game, the pupils go ahead very quickly. With this thought in mind, Arthur C. Zahorik, music teacher in Milwaukee, Wis., recently rigged up a large electrical device that lies flat on the floor and resembles two octaves of a piano keyboard, with black and white keys. The right note sounds whenever a key is stepped on. The pupils call out the chords they are going to play, recite the different notes and then step them off on this device, hopscootch fashion. Although the feet do most of the work, pupils treading the keyboard train their ears to detect discords. With this device, Zahorik says, a whole class can learn in two weeks what might otherwise take two or three months. An electrically charged brass strip runs along the outer edge. Beneath each key is a brass pin that sends current to a small electromagnet when the feet press the over-size keys. That forces another pin against the tuning bar, sending a note.

Stock Prices Lost Ground Last Week

Industrial and Rails Show Small Declines and Utilities Large

Stocks worked lower Saturday with trading at 488,640 shares as against 1,099,290 the preceding Saturday. At the close the Dow-Jones industrials had a net loss of 86 point, to close at 134.73, which was above the low for the day. The rail average was off .42, to 29.51 and utilities dropped .10, to 20.96. The week as a whole saw stock prices lose ground, following their sharp rise the preceding week, an inflationary movement due to the announcement of a proposed further rise in the debt limit. Industrial and rail averages showed a small decline, but utilities were off sharply, closing Saturday with a net loss of nearly two and half points from the close the preceding week. Under fire for a long time the utilities now are facing application in the near future of the integration provisions of the controversial Utility Holding Co. Act of 1935, as well as threats of further government competition in their field.

Leaders in trading Saturday, with the exception of Pacific Tin Cons., which was up 1-4, closed with losses or unchanged. U. S. Steel was the most active and dropped 1 1/4 points in turnover of 27,000 shares, closing at 71. General Motors lost 1 1/2 points and Chrysler was off 1 5/8. Wheat moved up after an early dip and closed 3-4 to one cent a bushel higher. During the week December wheat reached 90 1/2 cents a bushel, highest point in six months and for the week as a whole prices gained one to 1 3/4 cents a bushel. The government wheat loan program was a factor, and announcement shows that 250,500,000 bushels had been sealed under the loan up to November 15. Statement of N. Y. O. & W. F. R. shows net loss for September of $192,614 and for the first nine months of 1940, $1,602,058.

About the Folks

Miss Rose Keener, who has been seriously ill at her home, 83 Brewster street, is reported improved.

Eleanor Gerhardt of Kingston, graduate of the Albany Business College, has taken a position with U. S. Navy Dept., Schenectady. It was announced today by Prentiss Carnell, Sr., president of the ABC Placement Bureau.

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—Steels were on the rallying side of today's stock market but many leaders loafed in narrowly mixed territory. Dealings were sluggish throughout, transfers running at the rate of approximately 550,000 shares. Early gains of fractions to a point or so for favorites were reduced near the final hour and small losses were well distributed.

There was no particular change in the optimistic business outlook and scant stimulation was derived from the war news, brokers said. Some early buying apparently was predicated on the idea last week's substantial price decline may have put the market in a better technical position.

Bonds and commodities were a shade irregular. Stocks up at one time—several eventually slipped—including U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Rubber Preferred, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Great Northern and Standard Oil of N. J.

A bit backward were Anaconda, Kennecott, General Motors, U. S. Rubber Common, American Can, du Pont, Union Carbide and Johnsonville.

In a spotty curb resistance was exhibited by Brewster Aero, Glen Alden Coal, Gulf Oil and Phoenix Securities. Occasional declines were posted for American Cyanamid "B," Aviation & Transportation and Creole Petroleum.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 15 Broad street, New York city, branch office 48 Main street, R. B. Osterhout, manager.

Quarryville Man Dies of Exposure

Was Absent From Home for Several Days

John Zeigler of Quarryville, who disappeared from his home on Armistice Day and was found Wednesday night lying in the woods near West Camp in a serious condition from exposure, died Saturday night at the Kingston Hospital. Pneumonia had developed from the long exposure to the cold and wet weather.

Mr. Zeigler, 75 years old, left his home on Armistice Day and wandered away. He was reported missing and State Troopers began a search for the aged man. Last seen near West Camp headed toward the river, the search was centered in that locality. Late Wednesday he was found in the woods near the river where he had apparently wandered and lost his way.

Brought to the Kingston Hospital in a serious condition pneumonia developed.

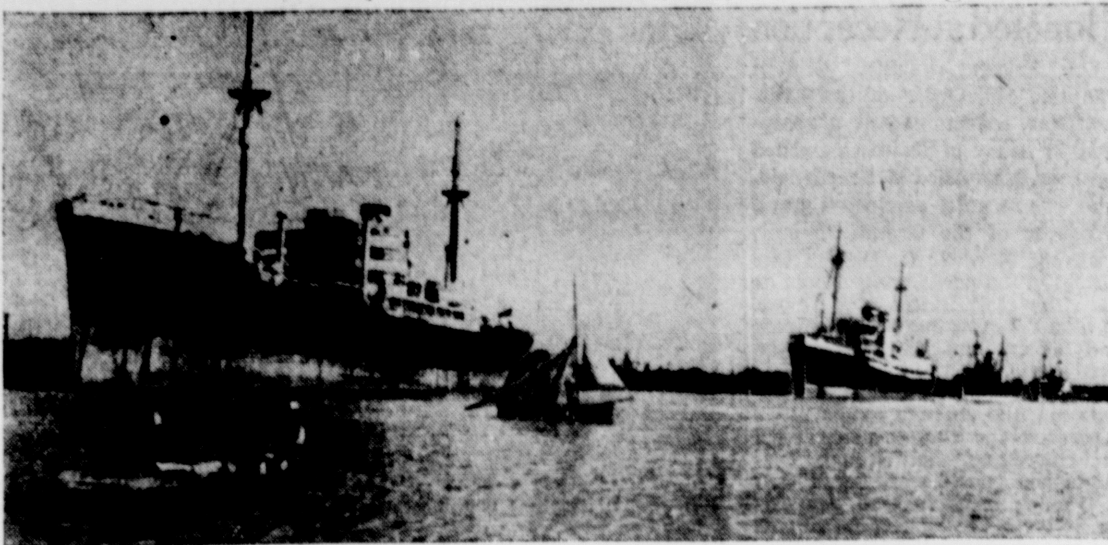

A brother Charles Zeigler of Quarryville and several nieces and nephews survive. Funeral services will be held from the Lasher Funeral Service at Saugerties Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with burial in Mountain View Cemetery.

The amount of work for horses to do has been reduced more rapidly than the number of horses. In the early years, horses worked about 99 ten-hour days in the year; now they work only 71 days.

HOSPITABLE BUT BUSY WOMEN PROTEST AT TIME WASTED BY GUESTS WHO TELEPHONE THE NEXT DAY

Is Not a Requirement of Politeness and Deluge of Messages Frequently Upsets a Hostess

The following message is not intended to be flippant. It voices the quite serious protests of hospitable but overbusy women against the good intentions of guests who think it a requirement of politeness to telephone their hostess of the evening before, the very first thing on the morning after. In fact, many tell me that instructions can be so great as to prevent their continuing to give parties of any size.

Of course if you stop to think about it, it is plain that the interruption of two or three dragged out conversations could be very hampering, let alone a dozen. Therefore, please remember, if on the day after a party you feel impelled to tell the hostess something that you know will interest her, it may be quite right to telephone briefly. Of course, if she is a lady of leisure, who holds a telephone reception for two or three hours every morning either in bed or on her chaise-longue, then call her by all means (if you yourself can spend an hour or more trying to find a break in her telephone's busy signal).

But—if a friend who gave a nice, but in nothing remarkable, party, is a busy person, above all if she is one who does her own housework and looks after a young child or two, and you think it a necessary courtesy to call her to the telephone and spend anywhere from ten minutes to half an hour telling her as many polite things as you can think of, let me print in capitals: DON'T! If the party of a very intimate friend was really wonderful, and you feel impelled to talk to her about it—even so, choose a time when you know she is least likely to be busy.

Helping Oneself to Food

Dear Mrs. Post: When a dish is passed and the portion nearest to you is too big, is it proper in this country to search through the other portions on the platter, or in the dish, until you find just about as much as you care to eat? In certain parts of Europe where I spent much time, it was considered ill-bred to leave food uneaten on one's plate, and finding one's own portion was the only way taking too much could be prevented.

Answer: You may take whatever piece you choose if you can choose it quickly and without disarranging the dish. You certainly can't go prodding about with fork and spoon and muss up the dish doing it.

Spelling the Groom's Title on Wedding Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it better form to spell out the title "doctor" for an M. D., on his wedding invitations, than to abbreviate it the way it is usually written? Or since Dr. is somewhat ambiguous, would it be preferable to choose George Medico, M. D.?

Answer: I should not choose M. D. for a wedding invitation. Doctor or Dr. is equally correct. Dr. matches the Mr. and Mrs. of the parents' names but Doctor is liked by many—particularly if his name is very short. Dr. is better when his name is very long. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Veal might well be served more often in many households for variety and because it is a tender, fine flavored meat. There are many cuts of veal to choose from and whether you want a large or small amount, whether you have plenty of time to cook it or want to prepare a meal in a hurry, you will probably be able to find a cut of veal for your purpose.

In cooking veal, however, it is well to keep in mind that while it is a tender meat, it is lacking in fat because it is from an immature animal. Because of this, special care should be taken to cook it slowly and never to subject it to too high a temperature.

Do Not Broil Veal

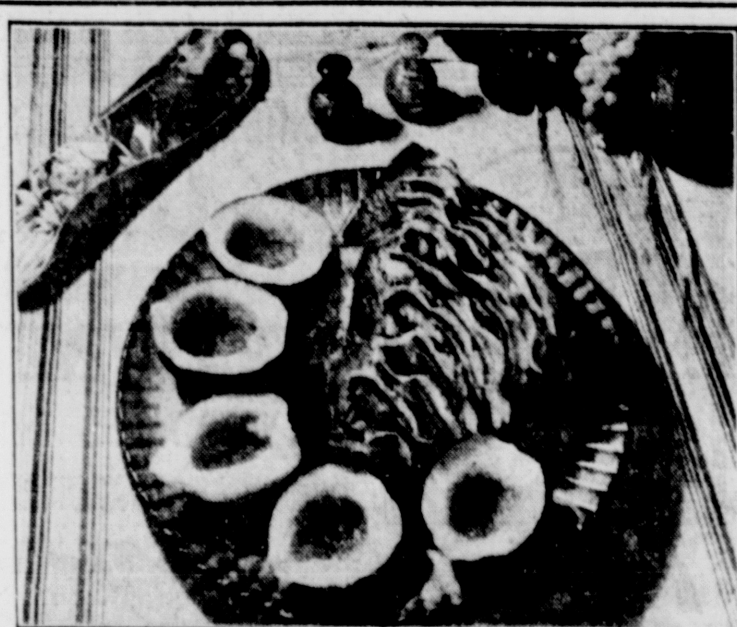

Because of its lack of fat, veal cannot be successfully broiled. Veal chops are browned, then cooked in moisture, closely covered.

The larger veal cuts however can be roasted according to the present-day method of roasting in a slow oven. It is especially important that the oven temperature be kept low from start to finish, and if you are one of those who likes to sear her roast, in order to brown it, make an exception when you roast veal and do not sear.

Rump Roast of Veal

One of the veal cuts which makes a good roast is the rump. This is chiefly lean meat, and to supply fat and keep the meat from drying as it cooks, it is a good idea to lay strips of bacon across the out, will waste the roast nicely. The general rules for roasting are followed.

Bacon slices across the top of veal rump roast will prevent the meat from drying as it cooks and also add flavor to the roast. Veal can be successfully roasted if the oven temperature is kept low. Squash baked with the roast form a tasty accompaniment.

Rump Roast of Veal

Season the roast and place it on a rack in an uncovered pan. Lay bacon slices over the top of the roast. Insert the meat thermometer so that the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part. Do not cover and do not add water. Place in a slow oven (300 d. F.) and roast until the thermometer registers 170 d. F. Allow about 35 to 40 minutes to the pound.

Squash halves or other vegetables can be baked in the oven at the same time to serve with the roast.

Wars Do Settle Things

Prof. Jesse H. Newlon (of Columbia, telling a teachers' conference that the profession has been preaching fallacies about war, peace and America): "We have been teaching a sentimental program of peace education. . . . We have taught that war never settles anything. Look at the Revolutionary war and tell me that war never settles anything. It gave us our freedom. . . . Another fallacy is all this propaganda about propaganda. Don't get me wrong, I believe in propaganda analysis, but there is such a thing as carrying it too far. . . . We're becoming cynical. A candidate for political office cannot say anything without being suspected of sinister motives."

Slot-Machine Entertainment

Another new development in slot-machine entertainment made its appearance recently in Hollywood and it bids fair to engulf the nation before long. It is called the "Talking Juke Box." The device looks like the nickel-in-the-slot music box—and it will play most anything requested—by asking an operator at some distant point. The machines are connected with leased wires from a central station, with girl operators ready to serve your every request. Drop a coin in a slot and from the central office, a sweet soft voice asks, "number please," just like the telephone operator. The customer then mentions the song or orchestra number he wishes and presto—just like that—the operator selects the record, puts it on a turntable, plugs the music into the proper outlet, and lo, and behold, the music "comes out right here."

With the introduction of air transport service from St. Louis to Miami, Eastern Air Lines marks another chapter in its twelve historical years of existence. It is now the second largest domestic airline, and compared to the original 792-mile route EAL has extended its wings over 6,400 miles of the United States. Since the inception of the mother company, Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., in May 1928, EAL has expanded over twenty times its original size in personnel and revenue.

Navajos Claim Grazing Rights in Last Stand

SALT LAKE CITY.—Navajos—colorful Indians of the West—are worried about their right to lands which they have held northeast of Bluff, Utah, along the banks of the San Jose river since 1900.

Recently, a group of nine, dressed in their traditional colorful tribal garb, came to Salt Lake City to discuss with E. J. Keefe, grazier, rights which they might have under the Taylor grazing act. Through their spokesman and tribal interpreter, Peter Begay, they claimed to represent some 40 Indian families. The party of six men, interpreter and two squaws, said that attempts are being made to return them to tribal lands, but they wish to remain where they are.

Federal officials in Salt Lake City said that other members of the tribe have returned to the reservation and they believe the group in question is rather a "last guard."

The question arose whether or not they are trespassing on public domain. Deputy Attorney John S. Boyden went over the legal aspects of their case with the Navajos.

Norwegian Sailors Are Flocking Into Canada

OTTAWA.—While hundreds of Norwegian airmen train in Toronto, for service with Great Britain against Germany, Norwegian sailors also are flocking to this country, to enroll against the invader of their native land.

More than 800 already are in uniform in eastern Canadian ports, and another 400 are expected soon. The majority are the crews of Norwegian whaling fleets, who are unwilling to return to a German-dominated country after the whaling season. As many as 200 enlisted here from one vessel.

The volunteers, although they will serve in the Canadian navy, are being trained, thus far, by officers of their land, who escaped to this country after the German invasion of Norway last April.

U. S. Secret Agents Best, Says Ex-British Expert

PHILADELPHIA.—In individual intelligence, education and specialized training, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the U. S. military and naval intelligence services are "unparalleled in the world," a former British secret agent told the Engineers club.

Maj. Thomas Coulson, now associated with Franklin Institute, told the engineers that the U. S. agents "are able to cope with any group of saboteurs in this country, and they deserve your full trust and confidence."

"You hear little of their achievements," he said, "because they do not talk about them. But there will come a time later when they will be able to tell of the work they are now doing in combating sabotage."

Hitch-Hiking Becomes New Scientific Art

ST. LOUIS.—A man who telephoned the weather bureau to inquire about conditions between here and Shenandoah, Iowa, asked so many questions that Forecaster Walter Moxim asked, "Are you traveling by auto or plane?"

"Oh, no," was the reply. "I'm hitch-hiking."

To Hold MeetingDiscussion of Legislation
Is Part of Program

Coming legislation affecting "on-the-premises" liquor dealers will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Ulster county branch of the State Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association to be held at the Elks Club in Kingston tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Jack Kelliher of the State Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association will be the principal speaker at the meeting at which new officers and directors will be elected.

In order to combat the evil of having too many licenses in any community, the liquor dealers are proposing to the state legislature that it limit the issuance of new licenses until such a time that a ratio of one license be in effect for each 1000 population.

Dog at New Paltz
Believed RabidTownship for Some Time
Under Quarantine

A dog thought to be rabid, is under observation in the town of New Paltz, it was reported this morning to the district office of the state health department. The town of New Paltz is under quarantine for rabies among dogs, and has been for some time.

If the dog now under observation proves to be rabid the quarantine will be extended at least another six months.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer of the city, who was also notified, called attention to the fact that the rabies quarantine in Kingston was lifted some time ago, but that there was still danger of a stray dog infected with the disease entering the city and biting another dog.

For that reason the health officer urged dog owners to take precautions to keep their animals from contact with stray dogs.

Willkie Declares
Congress Should Remain in Session

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie traveled southward today for a Florida vacation after declaring that congress should remain in session "continuously through this critical period."

Accompanied by Mrs. Willkie and his secretary, Miss Grace Grahm, the defeated Republican presidential candidate left New York by train yesterday to spend several weeks at Hobe Sound, a small resort on the east coast of Florida 30 miles north of Palm Beach.

Willkie told reporters "it must become increasingly apparent both to Democrats and Republicans" that congress should continue in session.

He said he planned to "just loaf around" for the first part of his vacation and then do some writing. He will return to New York for a day—November 29—to attend two meetings, the annual Stunt dinner of the New York Financial Writers Association and the annual meeting of the National Interfraternity Council at which he is scheduled to make an address.

Asked about reports that both the University of Vermont and Leland Stanford University were considering him as president of the institutions, Willkie asserted he had not received any "direct or indirect" offer from any university.

N.Y.A. Gets Equipment
For Local Radio Work

Tools and obsolete radios from which to salvage parts have been received by the Edison Radio Club of the local N. Y. A. it was announced today.

The office also announced that Stephen S. Peschal, of Claverack, has been named to head radio work of the out-of-school program in up-state New York.

Mr. Peschal will act as state supervisor of all N. Y. A. radio activities, including N. Y. A. radio clubs which have been formed to give both N. Y. A. and non-N. Y. A. youths opportunity to become familiar with the construction and maintenance of radio short-wave apparatus.

To Hold Meeting

Accord, Nov. 18—The annual meeting of the Accord fire district will be held in the town clerk's office, Tuesday, December 3, from 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening. At this is the first election there will be five commissioners elected, all for different terms of office, from one to five years. A treasurer will be elected for a term of three years. Nominations for the election must be in the hands of the secretary, Percy W. Gallan, at least 10 days before December 3 in order that the ballots may be prepared.

Labor returns are figured by subtracting the costs other than labor from the value of all the products. The figures apply to cost-account farms, those on which the farmers have kept records in cooperation with the college of agriculture. These farms are larger and more productive than the typical farms in the state.

Trenton Police Seek
Slayer of Men, Women

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 18 (AP)—With buckshot pellets as their only clues, police today pressed a search for the perpetrator of Hamilton township's third dual slaying in slightly more than two years.

The pellets were taken from the riddled bodies of Mrs. Carolina Morconi, 24-year-old mother, and Ludovicum J. Kovacs, 25-year old unmarried neighbor and WPA clerk, both of whom met death Saturday night as they sat in a parked car off Cypress Lane.

Township Police Chief Richard P. Brettell said there were many indications the case was linked with two previous dual slayings on desolate "Duck Island" bordering the Delaware river below

Trenton about three miles from the Cypress Lane spot.

In both the other cases, trysting couples were shot fatally from point blank range as they sat in parked cars.

Mercer county prosecutor Andrew J. Duch, who offered the facilities to his office in the attempt to track down the slayer, asserted "we apparently have madman here, just like Cleveland's mad butcher."

Ringnecks

The Kansas Forestry, Fish and Game Commission, under a Federal Aid project approved by the Fish and Wildlife Service, will stock ringnecked pheasants in the western part of the State, the National Wildlife Federation announces. A limited number of birds are now present in southwest Kansas, and under the project, it is planned to place birds in suitable habitats in that part of the state. Counties in the southwestern part of the state in which releases are made will be closed to hunting for a three year period. All released birds will be banded, and records kept as to the location, number, condition of birds, and date of releases.

In Air Corps

PVT. F. J. CERASORO

Peter J. Cerasoro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augusto Cerasoro, of 34 Roosevelt avenue, Kingston, who enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps on September 9, 1940, at the recruiting station in Kingston, has been selected to pursue a course of instruction in airplane mechanics at the Roosevelt Aviation School, Mineola, L. I.

This is one of the eight civilian aviation schools designated by the government to instruct the Army Air Corps enlisted personnel in airplane mechanics. This course will last six months and he will be trained in the general construction principles, maintenance repair and replacement, minor repair and inspection of the complete airplane, engine, and airplane equipment; also the care and use of material, tools and equipment used in the hangar.

Upon completion of this course Private Cerasoro will be returned to Mitchell Field or some other Air Corps station to perform the duties of a specialized air mechanic.

Since his enlistment in the Air Corps, Private Cerasoro has been on duty with the 2nd Materiel Squadron, 2nd Air Base Group, Mitchell Field, L. I., N. Y.

Cerasoro graduated from Kingston High School in 1936 and was active in sports, having participated in football, basketball and track. He received letters for football and track.

Cerasoro stated his reason for enlistment in the Air Corps was to take advantage of the many opportunities offered enlisted men to further their education in the field of aviation.

Not only are students offered the most modern and advanced facilities obtainable in each course of instruction, but they are also paid while attending school.

Approval by Congress recently of a $40,000,000 appropriation to begin the long-range airport program of the Civil Aeronautics Board is an important milestone both in civilian and military air development, according to a statement by Captain Gill Robb Wilson, president of the National Aeronautic Association.

Ulster Symphony To Give Concert At High School

The Ulster County Symphony Society will give its first concert in the auditorium of the Kingston High School on Tuesday evening, November 26. The orchestra, composed of approximately 35 musicians, has been rehearsing for about a year under the direction of George Hagstrom, conductor, who has developed a fine symphony group in Poughkeepsie, and is now developing similar groups in Newburgh and Middletown. The first Kingston concert will be supplemented by musicians from these other cities so that the orchestra will be well rounded and represented by all instruments usually found in symphony orchestras. Following the concert here the orchestra will organize under the name of the Ulster County Symphony Society and officers and directors will be selected from men and women of the community interested in the promotion of good music. The program of the concert will be announced at a later date and tickets may be obtained from any member of the orchestra and will be on sale at the high school on the night of November 26. Mayor C. J. Heiselman urged that music lovers support the movement and attend the concert.

Fourth 'Bundles' Shipment Is Sent To Headquarters

Mrs. James Chase, chairman of knitting for the local chapter of Bundles for Britain, reported today that 85 knitted garments were sent to the national headquarters in New York city last week. This is the fourth shipment to go from Kingston and makes a total of 204 garments knitted by people in this community. It is also the largest shipment to have been sent from Kingston. Mrs. Chase also asked those who are completing garments to do so as soon as possible as the need for warm clothing is increasing as cold weather increases. Members are also making nine-inch squares to be sewn together into afghans. It takes 30 squares to make the afghans which are used by the civilians and as lap robes for the convalescent soldiers. Those who do not care to knit the squares but who have odd pieces of yarn, are asked to bring them to the Bundles for Britain headquarters, 302 Fair street.
